The Workplace Safety Network Group (WSN) was established in 1988 to provide a forum for like minded Work Health Safety (WHS), Environment, Workers Compensation and Injury Management Practitioners to connect, interact and discuss current issues relevant to their profession.

WSN is designed to facilitate the sharing of information and building awareness of matters related to WHS, environment, workers compensation and injury management whilst allowing members of the network to seek and provide assistance within the group.

The group meets on a monthly basis with an industry expert or guest speaker presenting on topics related to safety, environment, workers compensation or a current issue facing the profession. At the commencement of the meeting there is an open forum for participants to share ideas and ask questions of each other with the added value of access to a Senior Inspector from SafeWork NSW and a leading Safety Lawyer at Kingston Reid. There is also the opportunity to network before and after the meeting.

The WSN seeks to provide a genuine forum for information sharing and learning amongst Safety and Workers Compensation professionals. To accomplish this, an email service is provided to allow members to ask questions of, or seek assistance from, other members throughout the month. It also enables members to share information.

Members have direct access to an information database, through the group website, www.blsg.com.au. The database has been built over time with input from presenters and all members sharing their experiences, learnings, knowledge or perspectives on various topics.

The group meets at Revesby Workers Club, Revesby on the second Wednesday of every month. Commencement is 12.30pm for a 1pm start where lunch is generously provided by our sponsors. The meeting concludes at approximately 2pm and is followed by networking.

The annual membership cost is $55 per year and subsidised by our generous sponsors and supporters, all of whom you will find listed on this website with links to their individual websites.

For any further information, you are invited to contact me on the number below and we would be pleased to welcome you to a meeting to experience the value that can be had before any commitment to membership is made.
